

Alfredo Ardila, PhD
COMMUNICATIONS SCIENCES & DISORDERS

Professor
MMC Campus – AHC3, Rm. 431B
305-348-2750 | ardilaa@fiu.edu

EDUCATION

- PhD, Moscow State University, Moscow, Russia
- Psychologist, National University of Colombia, Bogota, Colombia

AREA(S) OF SPECIALTY

- Board certified neuropsychologist and licensed psychologist who specializes in the assessment and treatment for Spanish speaking populations.
- Teaching, researching, and performing clinical activities in several universities and hospitals; particularly in Colombia, Mexico and the United States.
- Past President: Hispanic Neuropsychological Society Latin American Association of Neuropsychology
- Editor-in-Chief: Neuropsicología, Neuropsiquiatria y Neurociencias

RESEARCH/SCHOLARSHIP

Ardila, A., Ramos, E., & Barrocas, B. (2011). Patterns of stuttering in a Spanish/English bilingual: A case report. Clinical Linguistics & Phonetics 25(1): 23–36

Ardila, A. (2011). There are two different language systems in the brain. The Journal of Behavioral and Brain Science. 1, 23-36

Ardila, A. (2011). Trastornos adquiridos en el lenguaje oral y escrito en español. Revista de Investigacion Lingüística , 14, 11-22

Ardila, A. (2011). Executive functions in language and communication. In : Peach R. & Shapiro L. (eds). Cognition and Acquired Language Disorders: A Process-Oriented Approach. Mosby, Inc. pp. 147-166

INTERESTS

- Evolution of language
- Brain organization of cognition

Be Worlds
Ahead