

Students in the College of Nursing and Health Sciences clinical programs are required to complete an Employment Verification of any employment history within the United States for the last seven-years.

If you fall into certain specific situations, you may be eligible to waive the requirement for an Employment Verification. This does not mean you are waived for any other requirement.

Please Complete Below:

I, _____, am requesting an exemption for the Employment Verification requirement for my program at Florida International University.

Check Reason Below:

- I have never been employed
- I will not be older than 21 before I graduate from my education at FIU
- I have not been employed, at any time, within the last 7 years
- I have not been employed in the United States, at any time, within the last 7 years
- I have been self-employed for the last 7 years with no other employment

I understand that failure to disclose employment, within the US within the last 7 years, would be considered academic dishonesty on my part and could be subject to disciplinary action.

I hereby attest to the accuracy of the information above:
