Master of Health Services Administration

Fully Online | Hybrid

The FIU Master of Health Services Administration (MHA) program focuses on the business management side of the healthcare industry, preparing our students with the knowledge and skills necessary to implement changes across healthcare organizations. Our curriculum focuses on the non-clinical side of healthcare including, human resources, health information technology, financial management, marketing, leadership, and operational management. Graduates will emerge with the tools and knowledge necessary to manage teams and departments, and strategically develop balanced solutions that benefit healthcare organizations and patient care and access.

Online MHA

Offered solely through the FIU ONLINE platform and designed with the working professional in mind, the online MHA reflects the highly technological environment associated with the field.

Fast-Track Hybrid

We designed our Fast-Track 18-months program for students to master the combination of technological and management skills with interpersonal collaborations that define health management at the highest levels. Each course is evenly split between online content delivered through FIU Online and on-campus classroom learning.
